Telephone Calls

We will be featuring the most entertaining spammer telephone calls on this web site. Here is one that demonstrates Rule #1 of the Rules of Spam.

Spammers are Stupid and apparently, so are their attorneys

For best results use:

I am preparing a $250,000.00 lawsuit against Omega World Travel, Inc. dba cruise.com. Their general counsel, Mr. John "Lawless", appears to be suffering from some sort of split personality disorder. The first time I spoke with him he seemed to be sane and rational.

Here's the call.

Then I got a half-baked response from him (via DHL) in response to my demand for payment. His reply is completely and totally wrong. I called him to see if maybe he stopped taking his meds or something before drafting his reply to me and I get an even weirder response over the telephone. It is reminiscent of a certain movie character named "Jeff Spicoli". His entire vocabulary at this point seems to converge in the one word response...

"Whatever!"

Here's the second call.

I cannot stop laughing after I hang up. The guy is just TOOOOOQOOO funny. I love the old cliché he uses:

"You have no idea who you're getting involved with".

That's CLASSIC. Too funny! This is a must-hear.
